Contextualisation

This course is taught in the first semester of the second year of the degree and it is generally the very first time English Studies students are in contact with the literary history of Britain in a systematic way. As its name indicates, it offers an overview of the main literary works produced in the British Isles -which also includes Ireland- during the twentieth century in the different genres: poetry, fiction (long and short) and drama. Therefore, it focuses mainly on the most prominent literary movements and authors of the century, which have been selected following criteria of representativity and influence.

The course also aims at fostering students' abilities to understand literary texts and produce literary commentaries on them, a task initiated in two courses taken in the first year of the degree: Introducció als Estudis Literaris (20700) and Comprensió i Interpretació de Textos Acadèmics en Llengua Anglesa (21800). In order to achieve this goal, a significant part of the sessions will be devoted to practical activities related to the elaboration of commentaries, with special attention paid to literary terminology in English, specific phrases used in academic writing and the form and structure of a literary commentary. The aforementioned activities will be devised and assessed in coordination with the courses English Language III, taught in the same semester, and Comprensió i Interpretació de Textos Acadèmics en Llengua Anglesa, taught in the previous one.

Requirements

There are no official requirements for the course.

Recommendable

It is highly recommended for students to have completed the first-year courses Introducció als Estudis Literaris and Cultural Insights into the English-Speaking World I. Since both lectures and assessment will be carried out in English, it is also advisable to have passed English Language II and Comprensió i Interpretació de Textos Acadèmics en Llengua Anglesa in the first year of the degree or to have a good knowledge of English at level B2 as described by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Skills

Teaching methodology

The course website on Campus Extens will be an important tool during the course, as it will include additional information on assessment, bibliography and useful Internet sources related to the contents seen in class.

Plear bear in mind that mobile phones and other electronic devices are NOT allowed in the classroom. Laptop computers are acceptable ONLY if used for purposes related to classroom activity.

There will be the following types of sessions:

In-class work activities

Modality	Name	Typ. Grp.	Description	Hours
Theory classes	THEORY SESSIONS	Large group (G)	Theory sessions will be devoted mainly to the presentation of theoretical contents and the introduction to the literary texts that will be analysed in the practical sessions. Although attendance is not compulsory, it is highly recommended in order for students to grasp the main concepts of the course.	41
Practical classes	PRACTICAL SESSIONS	Medium group (M)	These will be devoted to the analysis of the literary texts set by the lecturer, which will be carried out individually and/or in groups. These activities will be devised in coordination with the courses English Language III , taught in the same semester and year as English Literature I , and Comprensió i Interpretació de Textos Acadèmics en Llengua Anglesa , taught in the previous semester.  Student participation and their previous reading of the texts for each of the sessions will be essential for the correct development of the tasks. Attendance is not compulsory, but highly recommended for students in order to acquire the skills required for the course.	14
Assessment	FIRST PARTIAL EXAM	Large group (G)	In assessment sessions the acquisition of the competences intended for the course will be assessed by the lecturer. Students will have to write one or several literary commentaries and answer questions of different types. An incorrect use of English will be penalised.  The first partial exam is COMPULSORY for everyone and will take place in November with a value of 40% of the final mark. Those students who fail it (that is, those who obtain a mark of less than 5) will have to repeat it together with the second partial exam during the period of Avaluació Complementària in January.	2

Assessment	SECOND PARTIAL EXAM	Large group (G)	In assessment sessions the acquisition of the competences intended for the course will be assessed by the lecturer. Students will have to write one or several literary commentaries and answer questions of different types. An incorrect use of English will be penalised. The second partial exam is also COMPULSORY for all students and will take place in January with a value of 50% of the final mark. Those students who fail it (that is, those with a mark of less than 5) will have to repeat it during the period of Avaluació Extraordinària in February. A pass in the course means getting a mark of 5 or more than 5 in each of the partial exams.	3

At the beginning of the semester a schedule of the subject will be made available to students through the UIBdigital platform. The schedule shall at least include the dates when the continuing assessment tests will be conducted and the hand-in dates for the assignments. In addition, the lecturer shall inform students as to whether the subject work plan will be carried out through the schedule or through another way included in the Campus Extens platform.

Distance education work activities

Modality	Name	Description	Hours
Individual self-study	ASSIGNMENT	The assignment will consist of handing in a literary commentary on a text seen in the course on the date stipulated by the lecturer, which will have a value of 10% of the final mark. English mistakes will be penalised. If failed, it can be repeated during the period of Avaluació Extraordinària, but on a different text. Please bear in mind the information about plagiarism included in the Assessment section in this Teaching Guide.	6
Individual self-study	ATTENDANCE TO LECTURES AND SEMINARS	Students can raise their final mark up to 2 points if they attend several lectures and seminars on literature-related topics held during the course (October-November) as Activitats Complementàries a la Docència and hand in a critical reflection on them on the dates stipulated by the lecturer (marks depending on quality). Specific information (date, time, place of the lecture or seminar) will be given in class and on the course website in Campus Extens.	3
Group or individual self-study	READING AND REVISION	This will include the reading of the compulsory texts for the course, the critical appraisal of them and the revision of the contents seen in class.	81

Specific risks and protective measures

The learning activities of this course do not entail specific health or safety risks for the students and therefore no special protective measures are needed.

Student learning assessment

Students will hand in an assignment in October(10%, recoverable) consisting of a literary commentary on a text set by the lecturer. They will also sit a first partial exam (40%, recoverable) and a second partial exam (50%, recoverable).

Students must also bear in mind the following:

ERASMUS or exchange students will have to pass the same tests and abide by the same calendar (classes, exams, deadlines) as the rest of students in order to pass the course.

If a student fails to hand in an assignment or to show up on the day and at the time established by the lecturer for the exams/assessment sessions, the grade for that assignment/exam/assessment session will be 0 (zero), in case the student has presented more than 30% of the total assigned evaluation course tasks. Only if the student has presented 30% or less than 30% of the total assigned evaluation course tasks, will the grade be 'NP'. The dates and times of the official exams will not be altered under any circumstances, except those contemplated by the Reglament Acadèmic (when two exams coincide on the same day with a time difference of under three hours between them). Students will not be allowed into the classroom when the exam/assessment session has already started.

Article 33 in the Reglament Acadèmic will be applied in cases of cheating, plagiarism, cyberplagiarism, or any other fraudulent practice in the process of assessment: "Amb independència del procediment disciplinari que es pugui seguir contra l'estudiant infractor, la realització demostradorament fraudulenta d'alguna de les activitats d'avaluació incloses en l'avaluació d'alguna assignatura comportarà, segon les circumstàncies, una menysvaloració en la seva qualificació que, en els casos més greus, pot arribar a la qualificació de «suspens» (0,0) a la convocatòria anual. En particular, es considera un frau la inclusió en un treball de fragments d'obres alienes presentats de tal manera que es facin passar com a propis de l'estudiant."

No electronic device whatsoever (including computers) is allowed in the classroom during exams or assessment sessions, unless otherwise specified by the lecturer (e.g., if the session entails use of the internet for pedagogical purposes).
